

DANIEL PULLMAN

EXPERIENCE

Daniel has been with Windham Brannon for over seventeen years. As an audit senior manager, he is primarily responsible for supervising and performing assurance functions including, audits, reviews, compilations, and other attestation engagements. Daniel acts as the firm's manufacturing segment leader in which he actively engages with manufacturing companies to provide tailored solutions to their industry challenges. Daniel also acts as the practice leader for the firm's yellow book segment and leads all engagements with federal awards. In addition to manufacturing and yellow book engagements, Daniel serves a wide variety of other industries including real estate, not-for-profit, professional services, and employee benefit plans.

Daniel is a dedicated member of Windham Brannon's mentoring and coaching program and is actively involved in staff training, team building, and internal committees. Daniel has completed the Firm's two-year leadership academy.
