

MIRANDA COLEMAN

EXPERIENCE

Miranda has more than 10 years of accounting experience that encompasses a mixture of private industry sector and public accounting. She works with clients in a variety of industries including real estate, distribution, technology and professional services. She is an essential team leader in the firm's assurance practice. Prior to joining Windham Brannon in 2015, she was in corporate accounting at Turner Broadcasting System, Inc. and Scientific Games International, Inc.

Miranda is the primary liaison on engagements, working closely between the firm's audit team and the client to ensure an efficient and effective audit and that deliverables are accurately prepared and delivered timely. She leverages exceptional interpersonal communication and detail-oriented skills to provide quality client service as well as analytical and leadership skills to conduct comprehensive audit and review engagements in accordance with financial and regulatory standards.

She enjoys helping clients work through complex accounting issues and being a resource for questions throughout the year. She has experience presenting to clients' c-suite management teams and boards.
